“ I am Chandra, Frank's next door neighbor. There isn't enough space here for me to write about what a wonderful man he was. I met him 5 yrs ago when I had to meet the appraiser for my home and he walked across the grass and introduced himself and asked if we were the new neighbors. Then move in day he came over asking if the movers needed help. I met Bev shortly after and my son and I couldn't be more grateful to have such beautiful people as them for our neighbors. They took care of me as if I were a daughter. Everywhere I look around my house in or out it reminds me of Frank because he always fixed something, assembled something, did my snow, changed my light fixtures, and always bring my trash can back on trash day and if I did it he would say "I was going to get that". Bev too one night we had a blizzard I hear the snow blower but then hear knocking on my banister and it's both of them out taking care of my snow when I should be doing there's lol. They even picked me up from the hospital from having brain surgery. That's just to name a few there's so much more I can say. My son went away to college and he told him they are watching over me to not worry about me. I am writing this in tears and so heartbroken because I just went over there on Saturday and that was my goodbyes. As I was leaving he did the gesture of blowing kisses and I did it back and said "you get well now so I can see you driving in and out of the driveway" and the next day he was gone. Now it's just Bev and I over here to take care of one another. ((Tears))
Rest In Paradise Frank

“ Just met Frank last October when our son married his granddaughter Kelly. We sure enjoyed spending the weekend with him and his wife! We adopted them right away, we will miss getting to know him better. Hugs to the family. Larry and Patty Collinson
