“ To the Anstonson family, I extend heartfelt condolences to all during this time of grief. The pain and emptiness of death lingers in our hearts and seems unbearable. We can find comfort in the love and care of our Creator. Many promises are extended to faithful and obedient mankind, that is the awaken of those who have fallen asleep in death. John 5:28&29; Acts 24:15, warms our hearts to know that the reality of the resurrection will certainly take place on a peaceful earth. All of this and more because according to 1 John 4:8, "God is love."

“ My deepest sympathy to the entire Antonson family on this difficult time. I thought about Uncle Earl a lot yesterday and what a huge impact he had on my life without me even realizing it until just now. I believe my "travel bug" or "Air Force Wings" came mainly in part from him. It was his stories of exotic travels to the orient with work and the tales of the strange and interesting foods that he would eat, along with the beautiful gifts that he and Aunt Shirley would bring my sisters and I that made me want to leave Illinois and go in search of bigger and better places too. For that, I will be forever indebted to him. Goodbye Uncle Earl, give Gramma June a big hug and kiss for me.

“ Praying for peace and joy for all those blessed to know and love "Uncle Earl". I can clearly remember his caring and quick wit. He would always have a way of drawing me out or get me thinking. One occasion has always been particularly vivid in my mind...I had the chance to visit Aunt Shirley and Uncle Earl with my (late) Grandma Dean when I was in college. During that visit Uncle Earl asked me my major. In reply to my answer of "civil engineering" he quickly asked "So, you want to route garbage trucks?" This has me laughing and terrified all at the same time! But, above all else, the defining recollection I have is of a blessed man who dearly and profoundly loved his family. My heartfelt sympathy for all the loved ones he leaves behind as you begin to figure out how to navigate

“ Dear Antonson Family:

I first met Earl at Link Belt Company and after he joined R&S, he tried for years to get me to join R&S as well. After some years, I finally answered his call and became an R&S employee in 1969. I always respected Earl for his skill, commitment and how he treated those under his direction. In 1973 I was transferred to SLC when R&S opened its office there, serving as the Chief Engineer. I never expected it to happen but Earl became General Manager of the SLC office and once again I reported to him. Under his leadership the office grew and was prosperous. I became General Manager when he returned to Chicago to become President. So, most of my work career was with or under Earl's leadership and friendship. Earl always treated me with respect, understanding and a quality guidance Earl promoted me to Executive Vice President and all that such a position required. He was truly a delight to work for and with. I have nothing but fond and gracious memories of Earl and our working together. Upon his retirement, I became more involved in the company's leadership and often remembered how Earl would lead and followed his example. I am deeply grieved and offer my most sincere sympathy to all the family members. Shirley, Paula and I offer our prayers to you at such a time. I know Earl leaves a host of memories for you all, and for me as well.

God's Blessings
