“ I met the Toiani sisters, Gilda and Lena, a number of years ago at one of their garage sales. They could not have been more genuine and lovely ladies of the old school style. I returned a time or two to visit and was not only invited into their kitchen but served some delicious baked delights. Gilda told me all about canning, cooking for large family gatherings, showed me her second kitchen and was just an all around delightful story teller. I'm so sorry for your loss.
